

Academic Probation

The following academic probation policy will apply to all students with 12 or more cumulative academic credits. A student will be placed on probation when their overall cumulative grade point average (CGPA) is less than 2.00. If a student changes programs, courses transferred from the previous major will count in "new" CGPA calculations. If a student is on probation prior to changing programs, they will remain on probation. While on probation, a student will be allowed to enroll for no more than 14 credits in a semester. The maximum number of consecutive semesters a student can be on probation without being suspended will be two, not including summer school. The first suspension will be a suspension from the program, but the student will be allowed to enroll for courses in another program during this time. The length of the first suspension is one semester. The second (and any subsequent suspensions) will be a suspension from school. The length of the second suspension (and any subsequent suspensions) is one semester.
